

Responsible Brand Directory

You can change the story of your closet to a positive one.

• • •

As consumers it is our responsibility to get to know the companies we buy from, ask where and how they source their materials and understand the ecological and social impact of the products we buy. This directory is a starting place for consumers on their search for responsible companies. We've included companies that use organic fibers, fair trade and ecological processing. Learn more at regeneartioninternational.org/carewhatyouwear.
